For treatment of athlete's foot with severe itching

Fungi thrive and grow in warm moist places on the body and feet are particularly vulnerable. Common symptoms of athlete's foot are burning and itchy feet with scaly, peeling skin between the toes. Athlete's foot is not dangerous in itself, but since it is contagious it is best to begin treatment as quickly as possible.

Kills fungi and reduces itching

Cortimyk is a medicine to treat athlete's foot with severe itching. The cream contains both a fungicidal substance and a mild steroid with antipruritic and anti-inflammatory effects, which treats both the symptoms and the infection. With a doctor's prescription, Cortimyk can also be used for treatment of other fungal skin infections.

How to use Cortimyk

Apply a thin layer of the cream onto and 1-2 cm around the infected area. Treat morning and evening until the irritation and itching disappear and then continue treatment for at least 1 week to prevent relapse. Read the package leaflet carefully before using Cortimyk.
